

One-Page One-Shot: ULYSSES SOLOMON ARCHER (U.S. 1)

Written by Wes Gift

4 Panels

PANEL 1: Wide panel, exterior of a truck yard. A futuristic semi rolls through the parking lot. A bearded ULYSSES ARCHER jumps out of the way to avoid being hit. FOREMAN stands nearby holding a clipboard.

- 1 ULYSSES: Whoa!
2 ULYSSES: That truck had no driver!
3 FOREMAN: That there is the future, Ulysses.

PANEL 2: Closer on both Ulysses and the Foreman, Ulysses holds up his hands in confusion.

- 4 ULYSSES: Driverless trucks? Who came up with that idea?
5 FOREMAN: You can thank Elon Musk for that one.
6 ULYSSES: Elon Musk? Is that some sort of fragrance?
7 FOREMAN: Oh boy...

PANEL 3: Now focusing on just Ulysses, he is standing with his hands on his hips.

- 8 ULYSSES: What am I going to do now? I don't even get calls on the ol' head radio anymore—
9 FOREMAN (OFF): It's all satellites and cell phones now.

PANEL 4: Now looking over Ulysses' shoulder, he stares at a billboard in the distance. The billboard displays an advertisement for 'PIT STOP PIZZA,' and shows a formula 1 race car with pizzas for wheels. A starburst in the corner of the billboard announces, 'NOW HIRING!'

- 10 ULYSSES: There's gotta be someone out there who could use my driving skills...